Harvard and Yale have both had time to ecome seasoned and to-day's contest should filled some little line on the playing qualities of the teams. The games in detail are: Harvard versus Bowdom, at Combridge. Yale versus Tufts, it New Haven.

Harvard and Yale have annual games with Bowdoin and Tufts, using the minor colleges as trial horses, and last year the scores in their games were Yale 28, Tufts 6; Harvard 12, Bowdoin 6, Penisylvania defeated Franklin and Marshall College ey a score of 6 to 6, while Cornell won from Rochester last season, 50 to 6.

"Hayes does the work on the defense at right guard and is also good at offense, opening up the opposing line neatly. He has a lendency to lose his feet while earry-ing the ball, however, and the coach is now teaching him to fight his way through opposition more vigorously. He is also being taught to follow up an offensive play. "Frarier, who was with the 1801 team, is playing for left guard and is a willing camber of the ball after it leaves the quarter's hands. Neither has he yet learned to hit an opponent with force enough when carrying the ball. He has had a good start this year and should be a valuable man. "Smith of the 1801 team is expected to improve his good work of last year. He is a cool, quick player, slways down on plusts, ready to tackle. He is probably better on defensive work than on offensive, but may be depended upon to do his part either way the plays a wide-awase game and is quick. "Ferry is the most experienced man on the cleven, having played with the "7 and 1801 teams. He is in good condition and is al-

Several games of interest are scheduled on the Eastern gridiron to-day, Harvard, Yale and Princeton all having tussles with inflaor teams on their hands Princeton will make her appearance against Swarthmore College at Princeton, while Harvard and Yale have their annual sontests scheduled with Bowdoin and Tufts, respectively.

For the roost part the games are only of importance as giving a line on the big teams, and they may fail in this, as did last Saturday's contests. It was thought that a line on the work of the big elevens and of their chances against each other might be drawn from Saturday's contests, but in every case but one they failed.

The exception was the game between Michigan totaled is points and kept her opponent, from scoring. This overwhelming victory is remarkable in its way, especially for the size of the score in twenty-minute halves. As practically the same back field has returned this scason, the great eleven hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of that year, and hopes to duplicate its work of that year, on hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, when hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and hopes to duplicate its work of hast year, and the hope that here have any part of the hope that here have been put on the hope that here way. The chief fault found with the present against is a very different question, however.

The Kirkaville Osteopathe are to play the University of Illinois at Champalan to-day and Couch Martin Delaney of St. Louis University will offerste as referee of the game. The Kirkaville bunch is said to be strong the year, and they will probably afford a fast game for Illinois. Delaney will depart this morning on the Wabash for Champaign.

Marion-Simms has turned out for the first work of the searon on the Triple A grounds at Forest Park and prospects are for a team even stronger than that of last year. Many of the old men will be tack and the line will be fully as strong as last season's Coach William Caldwell, formerly of Cornell, has the men in charge.

Todd and Hunter are the only members of last reason's team who have not returned. Both were graduated and Todd is now coaching the Christian Brothers. Swallen is tack in his old position at tackle: Stuttle, who made a record for himself at quarter last year, is back in his position, while Bailey will play half and Childwell will take his position of last year at end. Bob Le Cron will captain the team and will play at full back.

TO-DAY'S SCHEDULE.

Jesne Burkett, Emmett Heldrick and Charlle Hemphill will play the outfield for the St. Louis Browns next season. Though he had an offer from New York calling for a salary seldom drawn by an outfielder, Burkett yesterday gave Secretary Hedges his word, and his word is as good as his bond. He will sign a contract before the end of the week, and it will carry a salary of smaller proportions than the New York offer. Burkett states that as he had been well treated by the St. Louis management this year he felt it his duty to sacrince certain financial inducements to the cause of the Browns.

the Browns.

Sekretary Hedges is in no hurry to sign Burkett now that he has the latter's word.

"I haven't found any of my men deficient in good, common sense," stated Mr. Hedges last night. "They had their choice about going where they pleased, and I feel that it is a compliment to Manager McAleer and myself that we came to terms with the players so readily." ers so readily."

Burkett has done much toward landing the Browns in second place. He scored more runs than any man on the team, hit above 300, fielded his position in sensational style, after a bad start. He was nover accused of shirking duty, and in the last three years has messed but one same. That was this season, when he remained in the same, against his physician's advice, He got back into uniform the next day and never missed a game after that.

Heldrick met Secretary Hedges last night, and when seked as to whether he had signed he replied in the negative, but added that he had given his word, which Mr. Hedges considers a sufficient guarantee. There never was any doubt that Heldrick would play in St. Louis if he played at all.

cessitate a double-header Sunday.

The Cardinals have experienced hard luck in the way of rumning into had weather and postponed games and had a thrilling experience Sunday night. Two games were postponed at Chicago and two more played Sunday in the mud. The team was booked to play an exhibition game at Columbus Monday. The Cardinals departed from Chicago Sunday night on a train that was running on a new schedule. Sixty miles down the line in Indiana the passenger train bearing the team crashed into a freight train and all the players were given a severe shake-up, most of them being in their beths at the time. Several cars were ditched and the train was stalled twelve hours. That disposed of the Columbus game. Instead, the team went to Indianapolis, where it was dated for yesterday, Just before noon a rain set in and that game had to be postponed. The Cardinals will play an exhibition game at Effingham, Ill. 10-day at the street fair celebration. The team is in charge of "Lole" Heilbroner and will return to-morrow ready to begin with Chicago in the afternoon. Manager Domovan has dropped Shortstop Kling and Kruger is back in his old position. Jack Ryan is playing a good game at third base, Hartiman will not rejoin the team. Jack O'Neill will not be able to catch any of the games and all the backstop work will devolve on Weaver.

> It's a common saying that "no doctor will take his own medicine." That isn't true of The Meyer Store clothing. Wo wear it and that's the best reason you should follow our example. There are other reasons, too, and if you will drop in some time we will convince you that they are good ones. So good, in fact, that there will be something radically wrong if we can't sell you. You might just as well put the extra savings in your pocket. And if we can't convince you that we can give you better values for less money than you have been in the habit of getting, you will be harder to please than thousands of people in St. Louis who think we are "it" on clothing.
